Dear Mr. Kozikowski,

Please accept this email in opposition of the proposed methadone clinic on Washington Street. While we completely understand the need for the City of Middletown to take action in fighting the current opioid crisis our community faces, we think the proposed location is completely incongruous.

A methadone clinic in an area of homes, restaurants and shops is simply not in the best interest of Middletown, it's residents, business owners or it's taxpayers. An overwhelming amount of data shows that the ideal treatment for addiction is inpatient treatment. If a more appropriately location was brought to the table, such as a section of Middlesex Hospital, Connecticut Valley Health Addiction Services Division campus or Rushford there would more community support. We urge you to oppose this location and reject any application to rezone this area.

Dear Mr. Kozikowski

I wish not to share my name however, as a resident and home owner of property near the proposed location for Methadone Clinic on Washington Street, I strongly oppose to it.

I believe it will decrease property values and due to high traffic on Washington Street it will create safety issues.

I'm surprised that this location was even taken for consideration, especially being so close to Wesleyan University.

Best Regards.

Dear Mr. Kozikowski,

As a former recreational therapist working with people suffering from addiction I certainly can understand and appreciate the need for a methadone clinic to help these people kick their addiction. Unfortunately I have reservations about the proposed location for such. The proposed location is in an area that businesses rely on customers to come to them and unfortunately many people will not want to shop at these businesses because of the stigma of patients/people needing the clinic.

There are several other areas in the town that would be better suited for this clinic. Perhaps in the old CJTS building since that is just sitting there not being utilized or part of Riverview or CVH? Or the hospital.

I urge you to oppose this location and reject any application to rezone this area.

Thank you for your time.
